

FLASHED OVER THE CABLE.

Admiral Seymour's Absence with His Fleet Causes Uneasiness.

Troops Ordered to Preserve a Quarantine for Madrid.

(LONDON, AUG. 26.)—Some uneasiness is felt not only in naval circles, but also by the public at large, regarding the absence from England of Admiral Seymour, who, with his fleet, took part in the late naval maneuvers off Spithead.

The maneuvers were finished on the 18th, but the attacking fleet, under Admiral Seymour, has not yet returned. It appears that while the fleet was carrying out its part of the program, Admiral Seymour, instead of leading in the attack, was expected, out to sea, presumably to demonstrate the ease with which British merchant ships on the great trade routes could be captured by a foreign naval force while England's fleet was engaged in defending the coast.

Mrs. Mackay Bents Oubrie Castle. (LONDON, AUG. 26.)—Mrs. Mackay has taken Oubrie Castle, Forfarshire, for the autumn. Oubrie Castle is not far from the Grampian Hills, and the shooting and fishing are excellent.

A New Submarine Vessel.

(LONDON, AUG. 26.)—It is expected that a submarine vessel, named Balamillo, will, when perfected, solve the problem of submarine navigation. The machinery of the new craft will propel and steer her with ease, as well as also sink her below or raise her to the surface, she will be fitted with lenses by which she may be steered, and by which articles may be seen which it is desirable to bring to the surface. Both on the surface and under it she can be steered in a straight line or turned with the greatest ease.

English Cholera.

(LONDON, AUG. 26.)—The cholera scare disturbs the provinces. Reports come of a suspected case in Bradford and another in Oxford. In Bradford, a man has been described the symptoms do not differ from those in the cases which have occurred in the East End.

Three French Children Shot by Algerians.

(PARIS, AUG. 26.)—A despatch from Algiers says that several French children, who had wandered into the vineyards of Notre Dame d'Afrique, had been fired upon as trespassers by the natives and three were wounded.

Another Death in Madrid from Cholera.

(MADRID, AUG. 26.)—Another death from cholera is reported from this city. The victim is supposed to be a refugee from Toledo. A strict quarantine has been established around the province of Toledo, and a cordon of troops will be stationed around the city.

INTIMIDATION OR GREED?

Railroad Strikers Arrested Under Questionable Circumstances.

Two striking employees of the New York Central Railroad were released on bail in New York City this morning after an all-night confinement in the court prison, when they had been arrested for intimidation or greed.

One of the men is Michael O'Donnell, of 927 Amsterdam avenue, a switchman, who has almost entirely lost the use of his right hand by having it smashed while in the Central's employ.

O'Donnell is a Knight of Labor and an intelligent, peace-loving man. He was attending a meeting of the Knights at White Oak Hall, on Tenth avenue, yesterday afternoon, when he was arrested by a "beat" man in the Central's employ, arrested him on the charge of intimidation or greed.

Hopkins, who had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell's crippled arm would seemingly make it next to impossible for him to successfully defend himself, let alone assault any one. He was, however, charged with Hopkins as being a "beat" man.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

John Ruck, of 363 West Fifty-eighth street, because he had taken the place of a striker.

O'Donnell denied the charge and produced a witness to show that he was innocent, but Justice held him in $500 bail for examination.

SURE OF PHILLIPSEN.

The Suspected Danish Murderer Still Held at the Barge Office.

A School Friend Says He Is a Victim of Mistaken Identity.

Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, the Dane who came over on the Normania which arrived here last Friday, and is suspected of being identical with Adolf Phillipson, who in January last murdered a man named Meyer in Copenhagen and shipped his body to this city in a barrel of lime, is still in the custody of the Barge office authorities.

They have not been able to determine as yet whether he is really the murderer or not. O'Beirne has made a very thorough examination of both Phillipsons and his accuser, Emanuel L. Jacobson, the bartender of the Hotel Danmark in Greenwich street, who is positive that he recognizes Phillipson, and has sent a report of the case to Col. Weber, the Extradition Commissioner, who is now in Washington.

It is expected that Col. Weber will communicate with the State Department, and cable to the United States Consul in Copenhagen, to ascertain whether Phillipson, the murderer, is still in the insane asylum where he was confined after his confession.

If that fact can be established it will, of course, exonerate the Phillipson who is now held in custody here.

Consul at this point, is not in town, and the authorities have not yet been able to communicate with him. Inspector Hynes has also been sent to Copenhagen to see that his judgment in the case may be obtained.

Suspicion is excited as to whether Phillipson, because he seemed to be rather confused when he was telling his story, and the positive manner in which Jacobson insists upon his identification of him as Meyer.

All that the authorities here can do, in case it is discovered that the detained immigrant is the Dane, is to send him back to Denmark in custody.

Phillipson passed the night very quietly at the Barge Office, under the charge of two inspectors. He does not seem to be at all disturbed about the outcome of the investigations, and, in fact, maintains that it is a case of mistaken identity.

He is a small, slightly built man, of middle age and manner. His heavy, dark hair is combed back, and he has a scholarly look, and he speaks English very well.

When a reporter of the Evening World visited him this morning he was reading a Danish novel.

"You see the publisher is Phillipson too," he said, pointing to the name on the cover.

"There are lots of Phillipsons in Copenhagen. My name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

He was taken to the Barge Office, where he was held in custody, and the police are now looking for a man named Meyer, who took it from the birth statistics of the city where every one's record is kept.

"I am not the man they want. I know all about him. For I read two stories in the papers at the time, and saw him two or three times in a coffee house in Copenhagen."

"He is shorter than I am, and stouter, and his hair is differently. I have lived in the country before in 1882, and lived here for eight months."

"I have been in business in Copenhagen since 1882, and my name is Alexander Ludwig Phillipson, and I have it in my name."

Lichtensteins' PATERN HATS.

For the Wholesale and Retail MILLINERY trade are now ready for inspection. Out of town trade specially invited.

J. LICHTENSTEIN & SONS, Grand Forsyth & Eldridge Sts.

BALIC'S CAPTAIN SUSPENDED

Fixing the Blame for the Collision with the Arthur Club Barges.

The Seventh Warders who attended the collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.

The collision occurred on the Arthur Club Barges.